New England Mutual Life Ins.

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843, Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be particularly interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

WILLARD PHILLIPS, President; B. F. STEVENS, Sec'y; CHAS. PULKER, Agent.
O. P. ROBINSON, Examining Physician.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,
LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently they will have no loss of their own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by leaving them alone.

If the weather should prove fair, there will be a full turn-out of people, and a large collection of articles.

HIGH PRICES.—We are informed that our quotations yesterday for wheat the day preceding, were too low, and that from $1.28 to $1.35 was paid for winter, and $1.25 to $1.30 for Canada club. The Milwaukee quotations for the same day were, winter $1.32 to $1.39; club, $1.22 to $1.28. A brisk competition among the millers for home use helped run up the prices.

DOUGLAS IN MR. MORRIS.—The Chicago Tribune of yesterday says that it has a private despatch from Mr. Morris, and learns that Douglas spoke there on Tuesday. He was listened to quietly, till he had finished, after which the meeting passed resolutions condemning his course and the Nebraska bill! All honor to Morris for this prompt and decisive condemnation of the traitor.

The Milwaukee Sentinel of yesterday has a private despatch announcing another foreign arrival, with a decline in breadstuffs, and an anti-Nebraska triumph in Maine.

MERCHANDISE FOR JANESVILLE.—By the steamer Arctic, arrived at Milwaukee, on the 11th, merchandise was brought to Z. S. Doty; by the propeller Sun, to J. Sutherland, A. W. Wheeler, T. T. Wright, T. C. Westby, H. S. Shelton, by the steamer Minnesota, to J. A. Wood. On the 12th, by the steamer Cleveland, to Eckstein, Bro. & Co.; by the propeller Milwaukee, to A. K. Allen, T. Armstrong, Holden, Kemp & Co., McKee & Bro., J. S. Dayton.

HOW IT WORKS.—The Kenosha Telegraph, in reporting the proceedings of the council of that city says: "The mayor stated that he was sorry to be obliged to state that the U. S. government had closed operations on the harbor, and the agent, Mr. Hale, had been directed to discharge all hands."

The republican convention for this district assembled at Mineral Point yesterday.—We think we shall be able to announce, to-morrow, the candidate nominated.

The Milwaukee Hotel company have resolved to abandon the project of building a hotel in that city, unless the additional sum of $50,000 shall be subscribed to the capital stock within ten days.

The anti-Nebraska mass convention of Grant county was largely attended, the court house being filled to overflowing. Among the speakers were Messrs O. Cole and J. Allen Barber. A series of resolutions, commencing with the character of the meeting, was passed, and it was resolved to hold a county convention hereafter to nominate county officers.

The resignation of senator Grant, has been forwarded to the governor of this state at Madison.—Kenosha Telegraph.

PROGRESS OF THE "CRUSHING OUT" POLICY.

Under the lead of Senator Douglas, the anti-Nebraska sentiment was attempted to be "crushed out" of the democratic party of Stephenson county, Ills. The process was this: Two conventions had been called at Freeport on the same day—one, a mass meeting to appoint delegates to the congressional and senatorial conventions; the other, a delegate convention to nominate county and legislative candidates. Apprehensive that the mass meeting would not be favorable to their designs, some of the "leaders" of the party in Freeport took possession of it before the people came in, and adjourned it, without appointing any delegates, or doing any business except to vest the delegate county convention with the power of appointment. In the county convention, matters were then managed to endorse the Nebraska bill, and the national administration and Gov. Matteson, and instruct the delegates whose appointment was stolen from the mass meeting to give their votes to no man in the congressional convention unless he was pledged to the principles embodied in the resolutions adopted by the county convention, "and whose personal character is not a sure guarantee that he is honest in such support." Such "a steal" as this by the leaders on the masses does not give the best satisfaction, and there is a disposition to resent it in the most effective manner, viz. at the ballot box. The Freeport Bulletin, the democratic press of the county, says:

"It will crush our party in this county for the present at least, for it will be heralded abroad from Freeport that the democracy of Stephenson county have endorsed the great humbug of the age, the pretended doctrine of the Nebraska bill, and the nominees of that convention [legislative and county] are now compelled to enter a campaign with a load upon them sufficient to crush men of iron. Of course according to the action had it is not known what the sentiments of those candidates are, for they were nominated first, and the resolutions afterwards adopted and placed under them as platforms, but if they accept those tendered nominations they of course are to be understood as endorsing those resolutions, and they are now to come before the voters of Stephenson county as Nebraska candidates, asking their suffrages on a question that we as honest thinkers can never endorse, sanction or sustain, directly or indirectly, and if we were to proceed as the organ of the party we would be compelled to sacrifice the honest convictions of right and still our own sentiments, which we cannot and will not do."

[The Missouri compromise had] an origin akin to the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the danger which seemed to threaten, at some distant day, to sever the social bond of union. All the evidences of public opinion at that day, seemed to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to disturb.—Stephen A. Douglas.

"I am prepared to stand or fall by the American Union, clinging with the tenacity of life to all its glorious memories of the past, and the precious hopes of the future, and among those glorious memories of the past, I pronounce the compromise of 1820 to be one."—Stephen A. Douglas in a speech to his constituents in 1850.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—By a letter from Milwaukee we learn that Dr. J. W. Hartley, of Philadelphia, has taken rooms at the American Hotel, Milwaukee, and will remain until the 23d inst. for the treatment of those diseases to which he devotes his attention. The St. Louis Intelligencer spoke of him as follows: after a visit to that city.

"Dr. Hartley, the eminent Philadelphia aurist, has his hands full during his short stay in our city. The large number of cases he has treated, indicate quite remarkably the little understood prevalence of the disease in that very delicate organ, the human ear. His office has been thronged daily during the hours of business, for a few days after his arrival.

"The correct principles upon which his treatment is based have been fully indicated by the restoration of many of his patients and decided improvement of the remainder. There is no empiricism in the practice. He does nothing whatever until by the help of instruments of novel and peculiar construction, he has ascertained the precise seat and nature of the disorder. He is thus enabled to tell a patient with certainty, whether his cure will require a longer or a shorter time, or whether his case is incurable. We speak not as an observer, but as a patient of Dr. H.'s—having derived, in a few days, more benefit from his treatment of an affection of many years standing, than we had previously expected to experience in a life time. Dr. Hartley left St. Louis yesterday forenoon, on the New England. During his stay here, he made many warm friends by the kindness and suavity of his social deportment; and left some warm remembrances, too, among the afflicted ones who were fortunate enough to have tested his skill."

BUFFALOES BY THE ACRE.—A member of Gov. Stephens' northern route exploring party, in a long communication to the St. Louis Republican, written from the head of Yellow Stone river, says of the incidents of the party thus far:

On Sunday, after a march of 10 miles, the buffaloes were reached. They were estimated by some as high as 500,000—300,000 is considered as a very low estimate. Drawing up the train at our usual halt at noon, a large herd were about half a mile ahead. The hunters, six in number, were immediately dispatched, well mounted on spare horses reserved for that special purpose, and the whole train had an opportunity to witness a buffalo hunt. The hunters dashed in among the herd, picked out the fattest of the crowd, and then separating the selected ones from the herd, soon dispatched them. In an hour the wagons were sent but a small distance from the route to receive the choicest pieces of Buffalo.

In the next two days' march the hunters were kept some distance ahead, to keep off the buffaloes; it was the only way the safe passage of the train could be insured through the sea of flesh. The pack mules and spare animals following on the train being too numerous to be separately led, were hard to control, and despite every precaution and care, one horse and four mules were lost—they getting mingled with the herd.

PANTHER CATCHING.—Mr. Editor: Seeing a letter posted on the door of your office the other day, giving an account of the capture of a large panther, I was reminded of an adventure of myself and others with an animal of the same species some time since, in Hillsborough county of this state. Thinking a brief account of it would not, perhaps, be uninteresting to some of your readers, I herewith send you one, written at the time in a letter to a friend. We were engaged in a survey of lands for the United States government.

It is our custom to appropriate out of every two or three weeks, a day, for the purpose of washing and mending our clothes, together with other little matters necessary to be done for the comfort of a camp life. On one of these interesting occasions a few days since, while all were plying the needle and scissors with the utmost assiduity, Tom looked up from his work, and spied, not more than seventy yards from where we sat, a huge panther, half hidden behind a large pine, peeping at us, and cogitating within himself, no doubt, what steps he should take in order to procure one of us for his breakfast. Scarcely had Tom cried out, "look at the panther," before all were on foot, and gave a simultaneous shout for the dogs; which sudden, boisterous proceedings, the panther not understanding, took to his heels with all his might.—The dogs (two in number), saw his first leap, however, and scampered off in pursuit, encouraged at every jump by the almost incessant yell of the boys. In the hurry of the moment, Tom snatched up the gun, Taft a large hickory club, Rube the Jacob staff, and myself a butcher knife—all of which were brought into full requisition, as you will presently see. We endeavored, by loud shouts, to keep the dogs encouraged, and by straining every muscle to keep within hearing of them—which we succeeded pretty well in doing, by taking advantage of "near cuts."

The scene was a ludicrous one in the extreme. I had on but one shoe—Tom had none—Rube had pulled off his shirt to wash it, and Taft his unmentionables for a similar purpose, and, of course, would not take the time to put them on—there wasn't a hat in the crowd.—Imagine to yourselves a set of fellows in the above plight, going through the woods shouting, and yelling, and running, as though the very old Satan was after them, falling over palmetto roots, scrambling through thicket swamps, plunging into sloughs, &c., and you can form some idea of the scene.

For about an hour the race was continued with great energy; at last the dogs bayed, and we knew he had treed. In a few minutes we came up, and sure enough, there, perched among the boughs of a little pine, in a fern bog, sat the panting beast. "Treedy, hey!" cried Rube—"treedy are you! Don't be glancing down upon us, with them great green eyes—it won't do you any good—your time's up. O, you sneaking villain, you thought to have had a glorious breakfast of one of us; but now the tables are turned. We don't expect to eat you, that's a fact; but 'Jeemes' river! what a lot of shot bags we'll make of your yellow hide."

A dispute next arose as to who should shoot, Tom had the gun, and was unwilling to give it up; but he was a boy, and we feared his excitement would cause him to miss. A deafening roar from the gun, however, stopped the dispute—Tom had fired, a loud scream and a hideous growl from the tree told the tale of pain and rage as the result.

In a moment more he sprang from the tree, and again took to his heels; but being badly wounded, only ran a short distance, and squatted under a thick bunch of fern. Seeing him squat and fearing he would destroy both our dogs, Rube, Taft and myself determined to go to their rescue. When within ten yards of him he made a spring for us, but was met by the sharp point of Rube's staff, which happened to stick through the skin of his back. He then whirled over on his back, to play the clawing game, and Rube pinned him in this position to the ground, and there easily held him—while at regular intervals of about one second, Taft's club descended upon his head, and my butcher knife sunk to the hilt in his body.

This fracas lasted but a few minutes—he was a dead panther. In his struggle for life, the claws of his hinder feet stripped my shirt of its bosom, and left sundry red marks across Taft's bare legs.

This is not a sketch of fancy, but a literal fact. The panther was the largest I ever saw—measuring from tip to tip nine feet and one or two inches.—Florida Republican.

DON'T UNDERSTAND THE ROPES.—At a county convention held in this state some days ago, the following, among other resolutions, was adopted:

"Resolved, That we cheerfully endorse the prompt and energetic manner in which Franklin Pierce and his administration have met every responsibility which has been presented for their consideration; and we also approve of the principles and policy of the administration which has shown itself capable and skillful in thus far managing the great ship of state."

About the time the convention was endorsing Mr. Pierce's administration as above, Mr. Douglas made no effort in this city to conceal the fact, that he regarded the administration as a dead failure, and that it was utterly beyond the power of human effort to restate it in the confidence of the democratic party. The wire-workers who got up the above resolution do not understand the rope. They should be seen to at once.—Chicago Press.

WHISKEY ON BEAVER ISLAND.—The Northern Islander says some attempts have been made lately to introduce whiskey among the Indians on Beaver Island, and adds:

In consequence the Indians have determined to destroy any whiskey that shall be brought on the island. The legal remedy has been sufficient to keep away all regular traders, but does not prevent an occasional fisherman disposing of a few gallons and getting off before he is arrested.

The same paper says: The Indians of Beaver Island are remarkably improved in morals and material comforts during the last three years. This is attributed to the absence of all groggeries in their vicinity.

Experiments have been made upon the properties of the water of Salt Lake, Utah, for preserving meat, by Mr. Stanbury and his associates. A large piece of fresh beef was suspended from a cord and immersed in the lake, for over 12 hours, when it was found to be tolerable well cured. After this, all the meat they wished to be preserved was packed into barrels without any salt whatever, and the vessels were then filled with lake water. No further care or preparation was necessary, and the meat kept perfectly sweet although constantly exposed to the atmosphere and sun. They were obliged to mix fresh water with the brine, to prevent the meat becoming too salt for present use.

ANOTHER BEAR.—Our Appleton hunter, Mr. W. Warner, killed a fine black bear on the school section north of this town. The bears are very troublesome in that locality, killing hogs, and scaring the juveniles. What say our fan-loving people to a real bear hunt? See call.—Appleton Crescent.

APPOINTMENT EXTRAORDINARY!!!—BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE U. S.—We learn from the best of authority that Doctor Edson B. Olds, of Circleville, has been appointed a special agent of the post office department, and that this special agent uses his commission to procure a free pass over railroads, and all lines that carry the U. S. mail. This is a small contribution on the part of the president, toward defraying the electioneering expenses of the doctor during the present canvass.

This is a new phase of the corruption system, now so prevalent at Washington. Nobody supposes that this man pretends to perform any of the duties of a mail agent. It is simply an appropriation from the national treasury toward the fund necessary to enable him to purchase his return to congress. We call the attention of the people of this district to this startling fact. As the agent of the government, he will, no doubt, draw a handsome sum from the treasury of the United States. And yet all the time he is employed in his own service, and in electioneering for himself!

He is the fit agent for such an administration. Let him be remembered as they deserve.—Columbus Journal.

If the above statement is correct—and the Columbus Journal is one of the most discreet and careful papers in the country, wholly incapable of imposition, and not likely to be imposed upon itself—the case is one which calls for the scrutiny of the house of representatives.—The appointment of Olds is in direct, palpable violation of the constitution, and somebody must be punished for it. Olds is a member of congress, and section 6th of the 1st article of the constitution says, "no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office."—Buff. Com. Ad.

St. Louis, Sept. 9.
FORT LARAMIE IN PERIL.—Lieut. Gratton of the sixth infantry, 1 sergeant, 1 corporal, and 20 privates, were killed by the Sioux Indians near Fort Laramie on the 15th ult. When the express left, the fort was surrounded by Indians. The garrison numbers about 50 men.

RESPECT TO THE DEAD IN PARIS.—A common practice in Paris, which impresses a stranger favorably, is that of lifting or taking off the hat as a funeral passes. This is observed by all classes. A little while since, (says the writer,) I noticed a small funeral train moving in the direction of the Madeleine. Evidently, the one borne to burial was of the humblest class, for the body was only followed by a few workmen in blouses, and women without bonnets. As it passed on, hats were taken off by the well dressed crowd, sitting or moving on the walk, by gentlemen in carriages with footmen in gold liveries, and by men driving their watering carts through the street. It was a touching and beautiful sight.

The present position of the democratic party in this district, is very far from being secure. If the Carlyle convention will nominate a good man and keep clear of all new tests and isms, the nominee can easily be elected, but should the convention pass a string of Nebraska resolutions, we care not who may be the nominee, he is sure to be beaten. More than one half of the democratic voters of this district are German and Irish, and they are almost universally against the Nebraska bill. We have no hesitation in saying that three-fourths of the people of this district are opposed to the measure, and will not sustain any man who stands upon that as his platform.

	Anti-Nebraska.	Nebraska.
Senate,	16	14
House,	49	29
	<hr/>	<hr/>

Some of the democratic papers on the contrary, claim the senate by 1 majority, and we have even seen the anti-Nebraska majority in the house reduced to 1, and a tie thus claimed on joint ballot. We hope the classification of the Herald, given above, may be correct, though we feel no certainty about it.

MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.—The Jefferson City Examiner gives the following as the official result of the election of members of the legislature in Missouri:

Whigs,	60
Democrats,	60
Benton Democrats,	41
	161

A U. S. senator is to be elected this winter to succeed Mr. Atchison. Col. Benton is a candidate, but the chances are decidedly against him.

MR. MEACHAM.—The returns indicate "nothing else" than that our excellent, able and faithful representative to congress from the first congressional district, Hon. James Meacham, has been re-elected by at least one thousand majority. This speaks volumes in favor of his course upon the Nebraska bill. He labored most untiringly against it and voted against its passage, and he now receives the reward of "well done" from his numerous constituents.—Vermont State Banner.

The magnetic telegraph line appears to be in decidedly a bad way. It has been some time since a communication from New York or any point east has been received and we don't know but it may be some time yet before one is received. The whole line is out of repair, and the proprietors ought either to put it in good working order or else make no pretensions to do business.—Kenosha Telegraph.

New England Mutual Life Ins.,

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843.

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability of assessment beyond the premium.

The directors are required to be personally interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by the insured for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE MADISON MUTUAL.

LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon 1. Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from time to time, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by LETTERING THEMSELF.

We have been doing business little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loan though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

New England Mutual Life Ins.

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843, Capital and accumulation, $650,000. THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the benefit of its insureds, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed. Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond the premium. The directors are required to be peculiarly interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties. Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors. ### Highly Important to Farmers.

THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST. LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN. THIS Company continues to take risks upon 1. Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies. All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon. We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on your own footing. Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by letter, and no losses. Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company. We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last five years we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance. The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company. TRAVELLING AGENTS Wanted for Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. N. W. DEAN, President. B. F. COUNTY FAIR.—Yesterday was occupied in making the entries and getting ready for exhibition to-day. We were able to make only a hurried call at the grounds, but found the indications for to-day were of a favorable character. If the weather should prove fair, there will be a full turnout of people, and a large collection of articles.

HIGH PRICES.—We are informed that our quotations yesterday for wheat the day preceding, were too low, and that from $1.28 to $1.35 was paid for winter, and $1.25 to $1.30 for Canada club. The Milwaukee quotations for the same day were, winter $1.32 to $1.33; club, $1.32 to $1.28. A brisk competition among the millers for home use helped run up the prices.

DOUGLAS IN MR. MORRIS.—The Chicago Tribune of yesterday says that it has a private despatch from Mr. Morris, and learns that Douglas spoke there on Tuesday. He was listened to quietly, till he had finished, after which the meeting passed resolutions condemning his course and the Nebraska bill! All honor to Morris for this prompt and decisive condemnation of the traitor.

The Milwaukee Sentinel of yesterday has a private despatch announcing another foreign arrival, with a decline in breadstuffs, and an anti-Nebraska triumph in Maine.

MERCHANDISE FOR JANESVILLE.—By the steamer Arctic, arrived at Milwaukee, on the 11th, merchandise was brought to Z. S. Doty; by the propeller Sun, to J. Sutherland, A. W. Wheeler, J. T. Wright, T. C. Westby, H. S. Shelton, by the steamer Minnesota, to J. A. Wood. On the 12th, by the steamer Cleveland, to Eckstein, Bro. & Co.; by the propeller Milwaukee, to A. K. Allen, T. Armstrong, Holden, Kemp & Co., McKee & Bro., J. S. Dayton.

HOW IT WORKS.—The Kenosha Telegraph, in reporting the proceedings of the council of that city says: "The mayor stated that he was sorry to be obliged to state that the U. S. government had closed operations on the harbor, and the agent, Mr. Hale, had been directed to discharge all hands."

The republican convention for this district assembled at Mineral Point yesterday.—We think we shall be able to announce, to-morrow, the candidate nominated.

The Milwaukee Hotel company have resolved to abandon the project of building a hotel in that city, unless the additional sum of $30,000 shall be subscribed to the capital stock within ten days.

The anti-Nebraska mass convention of Grant county was largely attended, the court house being filled to overflowing. Among the speakers were Messrs O. Cole and J. Allen Barber. A series of resolutions, commencing with the character of the meeting, was passed, and it was resolved to hold a county convention here after to nominate county officers.

The resignation of senator Grant, has been forwarded to the governor of this state at Madison.—Kenosha Telegraph.

PROGRESS OF THE "CATCHING OUT" POLICY.—Under the lead of Senator Douglas, the anti-Nebraska sentiment was attempted to be "crushed out" of the democratic party of Stephenson county, Ill. The process was this: Two conventions had been called at Freeport on the same day—one, a mass meeting to appoint delegates to the congressional and senatorial conventions; the other, a delegate convention to nominate county and legislative candidates. Apprehensive that the mass meeting would not be favorable to their designs, some of the "leaders" of the party in Freeport took possession of it before the people came in, and adjourned it, without appointing any delegates, or doing any business except to vest the delegate county convention with the power of appointment. In the county convention, matters were then managed to endorse the Nebraska bill, and the national administration and Gov. Matteson, and instruct the delegates whose appointment was stolen from the mass meeting to give their votes to no man in the congressional convention unless he was pledged to the principles embodied in the resolutions adopted by the county convention, "and whose personal character is not a sure guarantee that he is honest in such support." Such "a steal" as this by the leaders on the masses does not give the best satisfaction, and there is a disposition to resent it in the most effective manner, viz. at the ballot box. The Freeport Bulletin, the democratic press of the county, says:

"It will crush our party in this county for the present at least, for it will be heralded abroad from Freeport that the democracy of Stephenson county have endorsed the great humbug of the age, the pretended doctrines of the Nebraska bill, and the nominees of that convention [legislative and county] are now compelled to enter a campaign with a lead upon them sufficient to crush men of iron. Of course according to the action had it is not known what the sentiments of those candidates are, for they were nominated first, and the resolutions afterwards adopted, and placed under them as platitudes, but if they accept those tendered nominees they of course are to be understood as endorsing those resolutions, and they are now to come before the voters of Stephenson county as Nebraska candidates, asking their suffrages on a question that we as honest thinkers can never endorse, sanction or sustain, directly or indirectly, and if we were to proceed as the organ of the party we would be compelled to sacrifice the honest convictions of right and suffer our own sentiments, which we cannot and will not do."

[The Missouri compromise had] an origin akin to the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the danger which seemed to threaten, at some distant date, to sever the social bond of union. All the evidences of public opinion at that day, seemed to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to disturb.—Stephen A. Douglas.

"I am prepared to stand or fall by the American Union, clinging with the tenacity of life to all its glorious memories of the past, and the precious hopes of the future, and among those glorious memories of the past, I pronounce the compromise of 1820 to be one."—Stephen A. Douglas in a speech to his constituents in 1850.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—By a letter from Milwaukee we learn that Dr. J. W. Hartley, of Philadelphia, has taken rooms at the American Hotel, Milwaukee, and will remain until the 23d inst, for the treatment of those diseases to which he devotes his attention. The St. Louis Intelligencer spoke of him as follows: after a visit to that city.

"Dr. Hartley, the eminent Philadelphia artist, has his hands full during his short stay in our city. The large number of cases he has treated, indicate quite remarkably the little understood prevalence of the disease in that very delicate organ, the human ear. His office has been thronged daily during the hours of business, from a few days after his arrival.

"The correct principles upon which his treatment is based have been fully indicated by the restoration of many of his patients and decided improvement of the remainder. There is no compromise in the practice. He does nothing whatever until by the help of instruments of novel and peculiar construction, he has ascertained the precise seat and nature of the disorder. He is thus enabled to tell a patient with certainty, whether his cure will require a longer or a shorter time, or whether his case is incurable. We speak not as an observer, but as a patient of Dr. H.'s—having derived, in a few days, more benefit from his treatment of an affection of many years standing, than we had previously expected to experience in a life time. Dr. Hartley left St. Louis yesterday forenoon, on the New England. During his stay here, he made many warm friends by the kindness and humanity of his social deportment; and left some warm remembrances, too, among the afflicted ones who were fortunate enough to have tested his skill."

BUFFALOES BY THE ACRES.—A member of Gov. Stephens' northern route exploring party, in a long communication to the St. Louis Republican, written from the head of Yellow Stone river, says of the incidents of the party thus far:

On Sunday, after a march of 10 miles, the buffaloes were reached. They were estimated by some as high as 500,000—200,000 is considered as a very low estimate. Drawing up the train at our usual halt at noon, a large herd were about half a mile ahead. The hunters, six in number, were immediately dispatched, well mounted on spare horses reserved for that especial purpose, and the whole train had an opportunity to witness a buffalo hunt. The hunters dashed in among the herd, picked out the fittest of the crowd, and then separating the selected ones from the herd, soon dispatched them. In an hour the wagons were sent but a small distance from the route to receive the choicest pieces of Buffalo.

In the next two days the hunters were kept some distance ahead, to keep off the buffaloes; it was the only way the safe passage of the train could be insured through the sea of flesh. The pack mules and spare animals following on the train being too numerous to be separately led, were hard to control, and despite every precaution and care, one horse and four mules were lost—they getting mingled with the herd.

PANTHER CATCHING.—Mr. Editor: Seeing a letter posted on the door of your office the other day, giving an account of the capture of a large panther, I was reminded of an adventure of myself and others with an animal of the same species some time since, in Hillsborough county of this state. Thinking a brief account of it would not, perhaps, be uninteresting to some of your readers, I herewith send you one, written at the time in a letter to a friend. We were engaged in a survey of lands for the United States government.

It is our custom to appropriate out of every two or three weeks, a day, for the purpose of washing and mending our clothes, together with other little matters necessary to be done for the comfort of a camp life. On one of these interesting occasions a few days since, while all were playing the needle and scissors with the utmost assiduity, Tom looked up from his work, and said, a huge panther, half hidden behind a large pine, peeping at us, and cogitating within himself, no doubt, what steps he should take in order to procure one of us for his breakfast. Scarcely had Tom cried out, "look at the panther," before all were on foot, and gave a simultaneous shout for the dogs; which sudden, boisterous proceedings, the panther not understanding, took to his heels with all his might. The dogs (two in number) saw his first leap, however, and scampered off in pursuit, encouraged at every jump by the almost incessant yell of the boys. In the hurry of the moment, Tom snatched up the gun, Taff a large hickory club, Rubie the Jacob staff, and myself a butcher knife—all of which were brought into full requisition, as you will presently see. We endeavored, by loud shouts, to keep the dogs encouraged, and by straining every muscle to keep within hearing of them—which we succeeded pretty well in doing, by taking advantage of "near cuts."

The scene was a ludicrous one in the extreme. I had on but one shoe—Tom had none—Rubie had pulled off his shirt to wash it, and Taff his unmentionables for a similar purpose, and, of course, would not take the time to put them on—there wasn't a hat in the crowd.—Imagine to yourselves a set of fellows in the above plight, going through the woods shouting, and yelling, and running, as though the very old Satan was after them, filling over palmetto roots, scrambling through dense swamps, plunging into sloughs, &c., and you can form some idea of the scene.

For about an hour the race was continued with great energy; at last the dogs bared, and we knew he had tread. In a few minutes we came up, and sure enough, there, perched among the boughs of a little pine, in a fern bog, sat the panting beast. "Tread, hey!" cried Rubie—"tread are you! Don't be glancing down upon us, with them great green eyes—it won't do you any good—your time's up. O, you sneaking villain, you thought to have had a glorious breakfast of one of us; but now the tables are turned. We don't expect to eat you, that's a fact; but 'Jemmes' river! what a lot of shot bags we'll make of your yellow hide."

A dispute next arose as to who should shoot. Tom had the gun, and was unwilling to give it up; but he was but a boy, and we feared his excitement would cause him to miss. A deafening roar from the gun, however, stopped the dispute—Tom had fired, a loud scream and a hideous groan from the tree told the tale of pain and rage as the result.

In a moment more he sprang from the tree, and again took to his heels; but being badly wounded, only ran a short distance, and squatted under a thick bunch of fern. Seeing him squat, and fearing he would destroy both our dogs, Rubie and Taff myself determined to go to their rescue. When within ten yards of him he made a spring for us, but was met by the sharp point of Rubie's staff, which happened to stick through the skin of his back. He then whirled over on his back, to play the clawing game, and Rubie pinned him in this position to the ground, and there easily held him—while at regular intervals of about one second, Taff's club descended upon his head, and my butcher knife sunk to the hilt in his body.

This fracas lasted but a few minutes—he was a dead panther. In his struggle for life, the claws of his hinder feet stripped my shirt of its bosom, and left sundry red marks across Taff's bare legs.

This is not a sketch of fancy, but a literal fact. The panther was the largest I ever saw—measuring from tip to tip nine feet and one or two inches.—Florida Republican.

DON'T UNDERSTAND THE ROCKS.—At a county convention held in this state some days ago, the following, among other resolutions, was adopted:

"Resolved, That we cheerfully endorse the prompt and energetic manner in which Franklin Pierce and his administration have met every responsibility which has been presented for their consideration; and we also approve of the principles and policy of the administration which has shown itself capable and skillful in thus far managing the great ship of state."

About the time the convention was endorsing Mr. Pierce's administration as above, Mr. Douglas made no effort in this city to conceal the fact, that he regarded the administration as a dead failure, and that it was utterly beyond the power of human effort to reconstitute it in the confidence of the democratic party. The workers who got up the above resolution do not understand the role. They should be seen to at once.—Chicago Press.

WHISKEY ON BEAVER ISLAND.—The Northern Islander says some attempts have been made lately to introduce whiskey among the Indians on Beaver Island, and adds:

In consequence the Indians have determined to destroy any whiskey that shall be brought on the island. The legal remedy has been sufficient to keep away all regular traders, but does not prevent an occasional fisherman disposing of a few gallons and getting off before he is arrested.

The same paper says: The Indians of Beaver Island are remarkably improved in morals and material comforts during the last three years. This is attributed to the absence of all groceries in their vicinity.

Experiments have been made upon the properties of the water of Salt Lake, Utah, for preserving meat, by Mr. Stanbury and his associates. A large piece of fresh beef was suspended from a cord, and immersed in the lake, for over 12 hours, when it was found to be tolerable well cured. After this, all the meat they wished to be preserved was packed into barrels without any salt whatever, and the vessels were then filled with lake water. No further care or preparation was necessary, and the meat kept perfectly sweet although constantly exposed to the atmosphere and sun. They were obliged to mix fresh water with the brine, to prevent the meat becoming too salt for present use.

ANOTHER BEAR.—Our Appleton hunter, Mr. F. Werner, killed a fine black bear on the school section north of this town. The bears are very troublesome in that locality, killing hogs, and scaring the juveniles. What say our fan-loving people to a real bear hunt? See call.—Appleton Crescent.

APPOINTMENT EXTRAORDINARY!!!—BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE U. S.!!—We learn from the best of authority that Doctor Edson B. Olds, of Circleville, has been appointed a special agent of the post office department, and that this special agent uses his commission to procure a free pass over railroads, and all lines that carry the U. S. mail. This is a small contribution on the part of the president, toward defraying the enormous expenses of the doctor during the present canvass.

This is a new phase of the corruption system, now so prevalent at Wash. gton. Nobody supposes that this man pretends to perform any of the duties of a mail agent. It is simply an appropriation from the national treasury toward the funds necessary to enable him to purchase his return to congress. We call the attention of the people of this district to this startling fact. As the agent of the government, he will, no doubt, draw a handsome sum from the treasury of the United States. And yet all the time he is employed in his own service, and in electioneering for himself!

Let him be remembered as they deserve.—Columbus Journal.

If the above statement is correct—and the Columbus Journal is one of the most discreet and careful papers in the country, wholly incapable of inaccuracy, and not likely to be imposed upon—itself—the case is one which calls for the scrutiny of the house of representatives.—The appointment of Olds is in direct, palpable violation of the constitution, and somebody must be punished for it. Olds is a member of congress, and section 6th of the 1st article of the constitution says, "no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office."—Buff. Com. Ad.

ST. LOUIS, SEPT. 9. FORT LARAMIE IN PERIL.—Lieut. Grattan of the sixth infantry, 1 sergeant, 1 corporal, and 20 privates, were killed by the Sioux Indians near Fort Laramie on the 18th ult. When the express left, the fort was surrounded by Indians. The garrison numbers about 50 men.

RESPECT TO THE DEAD IN PARIS.—A common practice in Paris, which impresses a stranger unfavorably, is that of lifting or taking off the hat as a funeral passes. This is observed by all classes. A little while since, (says the writer,) I noticed a small funeral train moving in the direction of the Madeleine. Evidently, the one borne to burial was of the humblest class, for the body was only followed by a few workmen in blouses, and women without bonnets. As it passed on, hats were taken off by the well dressed crowd, sitting or moving on the walks, by gentlemen in carriages with footmen in gold liveries, and by men driving their watering carts through the street. It was a touching and beautiful sight.

The present position of the democratic party in this district, is very far from being secure. If the Carlyle convention will nominate a good man and keep clear of all new tests and isms, the nominee can easily be elected, but should the convention pass a string of Nebraska resolutions, we care not who may be the nominee, he is sure to be beaten. More than one half of the democratic voters of this district are German and Irish, and they are almost universally against the Nebraska bill. We have no hesitation in saying that three-fourths of the people of this district are opposed to the measure, and will not sustain any man who stands upon that as his platform.

Anti-Nebraska.	Nebraska.
Senate, 16	14
House, 49	29
	56 41

Some of the democratic papers on the contrary, claim the senate by 1 majority, and we have even seen the anti-Nebraska majority in the house reduced to 1, and a tie thus claimed on joint ballot. We hope the classification of the Herald, given above, may be correct, though we feel no certainty about it.

MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.—The Jefferson City Examiner gives the following as the official result of the election of members of the legislature in Missouri:

Whigs.	60
Democrats.	60
Benton Democrats.	41

MR. MEACHAM.—The returns indicate "nothing else" than that our excellent, able and faithful representative to congress from the first congressional district, Hon. James Meacham, has been re-elected by at least one thousand majority. This speaks volumes in favor of his course upon the Nebraska bill. He labored most untiringly against it and voted against its passage, and he now receives the reward of "well done" from his numerous constituents.—Vermont State Banner.

The magnetic telegraph line appears to be in decidedly a bad way. It has been some time since a communication from New York or any point east has been received and we don't know but it may be some time yet before one is received. The whole line is out of repair, and the proprietors ought either to put it in good working order or else make no pretensions to do business.—Kenosha Telegraph.

COUNTY FAIR.

Yesterday was occupied in making the entries and getting ready for exhibition to-day. We were able to make only a hurried call at the grounds, but found the indications for to-day were of a favorable character. If the weather should prove fair, there will be a full turn-out of people, and a large collection of articles.

HIGH PRICES.—We are informed that our quotations for wheat for the day preceding, were too low, and that from $1.28 to $1.35 was paid for winter, and $1.25 to $1.30 for Canada club. The Milwaukee quotations for the same day were, winter $1.32 to $1.30; club, $1.22 to $1.28. A brisk competition among the millers for home use helped run up the prices.

DOUGLAS IN MR. MORRIS.—The Chicago Tribune of yesterday says that it has a private despatch from Mr. Morris, and learns that Douglas spoke there on Tuesday. He was listed to quietly, till he had finished, after which the meeting passed resolutions condemning his course and the Nebraska bill! All honor to Morris for this prompt and decisive condemnation of the traitor.

"The Milwaukee Sentinel of yesterday has a private despatch announcing another foreign arrival, with a decline in breadstuffs, and an anti-Nebraska triumph in Maine.

MERCHANTS FOR JANESVILLE.—By the steamer Arctic, arrived at Milwaukee, on the 11th, merchandise was brought to Z. S. Doty; by the propeller Sun, to J. Sutherland, A. W. Wheeler, T. T. Wright, T. C. Westby, H. S. Shelton, by the steamer Minnesota, to J. A. Wood. On the 12th, by the steamer Cleveland, to Eckstein, Bro. & Co.; by the propeller Milwaukee, to A. K. Allen, T. Armstrong, Holden, Kemp & Co., McKee & Bro., J. S. Dayton.

HOW IT WORKS.—The Kenosha Telegraph, in reporting the proceedings of the council of that city says: "The mayor stated that he was sorry to be obliged to state that the U. S. government had closed operations on the harbor, and the agent, Mr. Hale, had been directed to discharge all hands."

The republican convention for this district assembled at Mineral Point yesterday. We think we shall be able to announce, to-morrow, the candidate nominated.

The Milwaukee Hotel company have resolved to abandon the project of building a hotel in that city, unless the additional sum of $50,000 shall be subscribed to the capital stock within ten days.

The anti-Nebraska mass convention of Grant county was largely attended, the court house being filled to overflowing. Among the speakers were Messrs O. Cole and J. Allen Barber. A series of resolutions, commencing with the character of the meeting, was passed, and it was resolved to hold a county convention hereafter to nominate county officers.

The resignation of senator Grant, has been forwarded to the governor of this state at Madison. —Kenosha Telegraph.

PROGRESS OF THE "CRUSHING OUT" POLICY.—Under the lead of Senator Douglas, the anti-Nebraska sentiment was attempted to be "crushed out" of the democratic party of Stephenson county, Ills. The process was this: Two conventions had been called at Freeport on the same day—one, a mass meeting to appoint delegates to the congressional and senatorial conventions; the other, a delegate convention to nominate county and legislative candidates. Apprehensive that the mass meeting would not be favorable to their designs, some of the "leaders" of the party in Freeport took possession of it before the people came in, and adjourned it, without appointing any delegates, or doing any business except to vest the delegate county convention with the power of appointment. In the county convention, matters were then managed to endorse the Nebraska bill, the national administration and Gov. Matteson, and instruct the delegates whose appointment was stolen from the mass meeting to give their votes to no man in the congressional convention unless he was pledged to the principles embodied in the resolutions adopted by the county convention, "and whose personal character is not a sure guarantee that he is honest in such support." Such "a steal" as this by the leaders on the masses does not give the best satisfaction, and there is a disposition to resent it in the most effective manner, viz. at the ballot box. The Freeport Bulletin, the democratic press of the county, says:

"It will crush our party in this county for the present at least, for it will be heralded abroad from Freeport that the democracy of Stephenson county have endorsed the great humbug of the age, the pretended doctrine of the Nebraska bill, and the nominees of that convention [legislative and county] are now compelled to enter a campaign with a load upon their shoulders sufficient to crush them of iron. Of course according to the action had it is not known what the sentiments of these candidates are, for they were nominated first, and the resolutions afterwards adopted and placed under them as platforms, but if they accept those tendered nominations they of course are to be understood as endorsing those resolutions, and they are now to come before the voters of Stephenson county as Nebraska candidates, asking their suffrages on a question that we as honest thinkers can never endorse, sanction or sustain, directly or indirectly, and if we were to proceed as the organ of the party we would be compelled to sacrifice the honest convictions of right and still our own sentiments, which we cannot and will not do."

"[The Missouri compromise had] an origin akin to the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the danger which seemed to threaten, at some distant day, to sever the social bond of union. All the evidences of public opinion at that day, seemed to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to disturb."—Stephen A. Douglas.

"I am prepared to stand or fall by the American Union, clinging with the tenacity of life to all its glorious memories of the past, and the precious hopes of the future, and among those glorious memories of the past, I pronounce the compromise of 1820 to be one."—Stephen A. Douglas in a speech to his constituents in 1850.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—By a letter from Milwaukee we learn that Dr. J. W. Hartley, of Philadelphia, has taken rooms at the American Hotel, Milwaukee, and will remain until the 23rd inst, for the treatment of those diseases to which he devotes his attention. The St. Louis Intelligencer spoke of him as follows: after a visit to that city.

"Dr. Hartley, the eminent Philadelphia artist, has his hands full during his short stay in our city. The large number of cases he has treated, indicate quite remarkably the little understood prevalence of the disease in that very delicate organ, the human ear. His office has been thronged daily during the hours of business, from a few days after his arrival.

"The correct principles upon which his treatment is based have been fully indicated by the restoration of many of his patients and decided improvement of the remainder. There is no empiricism in the practice. He does nothing whatever until by the help of instruments of novel and peculiar construction, he has ascertained the precise seat and nature of the disorder. He is thus enabled to tell a patient with certainty, whether his cure will require a longer or a shorter time, or whether his case is incurable. We speak not as an observer, but as a patient of Dr. H.'s—having derived, in a few days, more benefit from his treatment of an affection of many years standing, than we had previously expected to experience in a life time. Dr. Hartley left St. Louis yesterday forenoon, on the New England. During his stay here, he made many warm friends by the kindness and suavity of his social deportment; and left some warm remembrances, too, among the afflicted ones who were fortunate enough to have tested his skill."

BUFFALOES BY THE ACRE.—A member of Gov. Stephens' northern route exploring party, in a long communication to the St. Louis Republican, written from the head of Yellow Stone river, says of the incidents of the party thus far:

On Sunday, after a march of 10 miles, the buffaloes were reached. They were estimated by some as high as 500,000—200,000 is considered as a very low estimate. Drawing up the train at our usual halt at noon, a large herd were about half a mile ahead. The hunters, six in number, were immediately dispatched, well mounted on spare horses reserved for that especial purpose, and the whole train had an opportunity to witness a buffalo hunt. The hunters dashed in among the herd, picked out the fattest of the crowd, and then separating the selected ones from the herd, soon separated them. In an hour the wagons were sent but a small distance from the route to receive the choicest pieces of buffalo.

In the next two days' march the hunters were kept some distance ahead, to keep off the buffaloes; it was the only way the safe passage of the train could be insured through the sea of flesh. The pack mules and spare animals following on the train being too numerous to be separately led, were hard to control, and despite every precaution and care, one horse and four mules were lost—they getting mingled with the herd.

PANTHER CATCHING.—Mr. Editor: Seeing a letter posted on the door of your office the other day, giving an account of the capture of a large panther, I was reminded of an adventure of myself and others with an animal of the same species some time since, in Hillsborough county of this state. Thinking a brief account of it would not, perhaps, be uninteresting to some of your readers, I herewith send you one, written at the time a letter to a friend. We were engaged in a survey of lands for the United States government.

It is our custom to appropriate out of every two or three weeks, a day, for the purpose of washing and mending our clothes, together with other little matters necessary to be done for the comfort of a camp life. On one of these interesting occasions a few days since, while all were plying the needle and scissors with the utmost assiduity, Tom looked up from his work, and smiled, not more than seventy yards from where we sat, a huge panther, half hidden behind a large pine, peeping at us, and cogitating within himself, no doubt, what steps he should take in order to procure one of us for his breakfast. Scarcely had Tom cried out, "look at the panther," before all were on foot, and gave a simultaneous shout for the dogs; which sudden, boisterous proceedings, the panther not understanding, took to his heels with all his might. "The dogs (two in number,) saw his first leap, however, and scampered off in pursuit, encouraged at every jump by the almost incessant yell of the boys. In the hurry of the moment, Tom snatched up the gun, and a large hickory club, Rubie the Jacob staff, and myself a butcher knife—all of which were brought into full requisition, as you will presently see. We endeavored, by loud shouts, to keep the dogs encouraged, and by straining every muscle to keep within hearing of them—which we succeeded pretty well in doing, by taking advantage of "near cuts."

The scene was a ludicrous one in the extreme. I had on but one shoe—Tom had none—Rubie had pulled off his shirt to wash it, and Taff his unmentionables for a similar purpose, and, of course, would not take the time to put them on—there wasn't a hat in the crowd. Imagine to yourselves a set of fellows in the above plight, going through the woods shouting, and yelling, and running, as though the very old Satan was after them, falling over palmetto roots, scrambling through thicket swamps, plunging into sloughs, &c., and you can form some idea of the scene.

For about an hour the race was continued with great energy; at last the dogs bayed, and we knew he had treed. In a few minutes we came up, and sure enough, there, perched among the boughs of a little pine, in a form begot the panting beast. "Treed, hey!" cried Rubie—"treed are you! Don't be gazing down upon us so, with them great green eyes; it won't do you any good—your time's up. O, you sneaking villain, you thought to have had a glorious breakfast of one of us; but now the tables are turned. We don't expect to eat you, that's a fact; but 'Jeemon's' river! what a lot of shot bags we'll make of your yellow hide."

A dispute next arose as to who should shoot. Tom had the gun, and was unwilling to give it up; but he was but a boy, and we feared his excitement would cause him to miss. A deafening roar from the gun, however, stopped the dispute—Tom had fired, a loud scream and a hideous growl from the tree told the tale of pain and rage as the result.

In a moment more he sprang from the tree, and again took to his heels; but being badly wounded, only ran a short distance, and squatted under a thick bunch of fern. Seeing him squat, and fearing he would destroy both our dogs, Rubie and myself determined to go to their rescue. When within ten yards of him he made a spring for us, but was met by the sharp point of Rubie's staff, which happened to stick through the skin of his back. He then whirled over on his back, to play the chipping game, and Rubie pinned him in this position to the ground, and there easily held him—while at regular intervals of about one second, Taff's club descended upon his head, and my butcher knife sunk to the hilt in his body.

This fracas lasted but a few minutes—he was a dead panther. In his struggle for life, the claws of his hinder feet stripped my shirt of its bosom, and left audacious red marks across Taff's bare legs.

This is not a sketch of fancy, but a literal fact. The panther was the largest I ever saw—measuring from tip to tip nine feet and one or two inches.—Florida Republican.

DON'T UNDERSTAND THE ROPE.—At a county convention held in this state some days ago, the following, among other resolutions, was adopted:

"Resolved, That we cheerfully endorse the prompt and energetic manner in which Franklin Pierce and his administration have met every responsibility which has been presented for their consideration; and we also approve of the principles and policy of the administration which has shown itself capable and skillful in thus far managing the great ship of state."

About the time the convention was ending Mr. Pierce's administration as above, Mr. Douglas made no effort in this city to conceal the fact, that he regarded the administration as a dead failure, and that it was utterly beyond the power of human effort to reneate it in the confidence of the democratic party. The workers who got up the above resolution do not understand the rope. —Chicago Press.

WHISKY ON BEAVER ISLAND.—The Northern Islander says some attempts have been made lately to introduce whisky among the Indians on Beaver Island, and adds:

In consequence the Indians have determined to destroy any whiskey that shall be brought on the Island. The legal remedy has been sufficient to keep away all regular traders, but does not prevent an occasional fisherman disposing of a few gallons and getting off before he is arrested.

The same paper says:

The Indians of Beaver Island are remarkably improved in morals and material comforts during the last three years. This is attributed to the absence of all groggeries in their vicinity.

Experiments have been made upon the properties of the water of Salt Lake, Utah, for preserving meat, by Mr. Stanbury and his associates. A large piece of fresh beef was suspended from a cord and immersed in the lake, for over 12 hours, when it was found to be tolerable well cured. After this, all the meat they wished to be preserved was packed into barrels without any salt whatever, and the vessels were then filled with lake water. No further care or preparation was necessary, and the meat kept perfectly sweet although constantly exposed to the atmosphere and sun. They were obliged to mix fresh water with the brine, to prevent the meat becoming too salt for present use.

ANOTHER BEAR.—Our Appleton hunter, Mr. W. Warner, killed a fine black bear on the school section north of this town. The bears are very troublesome in that locality, killing hogs, and seizing the juveniles. What say our fun-loving people to a real bear hunt? See call.—Appleton Crescent.

APPOINTMENT EXTRAORDINARY!!—BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE U. S.—We learn from the Dept. of authority that Doctor Edson H. Olds, of Circleville, has been appointed a special agent of the post office department, and that this special agent uses his commission to procure a free pass over railroads, and all lines that carry the U. S. mail. This is a small contribution on the part of the president, toward defraying the electioneering expenses of the doctor during the present canvass.

This is a new phase of the corruption system, now so prevalent at Washington. Nobody supposes that this man pretends to perform any of the duties of a mail agent. It is simply an appropriation from the national treasury toward the fund necessary to enable him to purchase his return to congress. We call the attention of the people of this district to this startling fact. As the agent of the government, he will, no doubt, draw a handsome sum from the treasury of the United States. And yet all the time he is employed in his own service, and in electioneering for himself!

He is the fit agent for such an administration. Let them be remembered as they deserve.—Columbus Journal.

If the above statement is correct—and the Columbus Journal is one of the most discreet and careful papers in the country, wholly incapable of imposition, and not likely to be imposed upon itself—the case is one which calls for the scrutiny of the house of representatives.—The appointment of Olds is in direct, palpable violation of the constitution, and somebody must be punished for it. Olds is a member of congress, and section 6th of the 1st article of the constitution says, "no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office."—Buff. Com. Adv.

ST. LOUIS, SEPT. 9.
FORT LARAMIE IN PERIL.—Lieut. Grant of the 6th infantry, 1 sergeant, 1 corporal, and 20 privates, were killed by the Sioux Indians near Fort Laramie on the 18th ult. When the express left, the fort was surrounded by Indians. The garrison numbers about 50 men.

RESPECT TO THE DEAD IN PARIS.—A common practice in Paris, which impresses a stranger unfavorably, is that of lifting or taking off the hat as a funeral passes. This is observed by all classes. A little while since, (says the writer,) I noticed a small funeral train moving in the direction of the Madeleine. Evidently, the one borne to burial was of the humblest class, for the body was only followed by a few workmen in blouses, and women without bonnets. As it passed on, hats were taken off by the well dressed crowd, sitting or moving on the walk, by gentlemen in carriages with footmen in gold liveries, and by men driving their watering carts through the street. It was a touching and beautiful sight.

The present position of the democratic party in this district, is very far from being secure. If the Carlyle convention will nominate a good man and keep clear of all new tests and isms, the nominee can easily be elected, but should the convention pass a string of Nebraska resolutions, we care not who may be the nominee, he is sure to be beaten. More than one half of the democratic voters of this district are German and Irish, and they are almost universally against the Nebraska bill. We have no hesitation in saying that three-fourths of the people of this district are opposed to the measure, and will not sustain any man who stands upon that as his platform.

LOWA.—The Dubuque Herald of the 7th classifies the legislature just elected as follows:

Anti-Nebraska.		Nebraska.
Senate,	16	14
House,	49	29
	65	41

Some of the democratic papers on the contrary, claim the senate by 1 majority, and we have even seen the anti-Nebraska majority in the house reduced to 1, and a tie thus claimed on joint ballot. We hope the classification of the Herald, given above, may be correct, though we feel no certainty about it.

MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.—The Jefferson City Examiner gives the following as the official result of the election of members of the legislature in Missouri:

	Whigs,	60
	Democrats,	80
	Denton Democrats,	41

MR. MEACHAM.—The returns indicate "nothing else" than that our excellent, able and faithful representative to congress from the first congressional district, Hon. James Meacham, has been re-elected by at least one thousand majority. This speaks volumes in favor of his course upon the Nebraska bill. He labored most untiringly against it and voted against its passage, and he now receives the reward of "well done" from his numerous constituents.—Vermont State Banner.

The magnetic telegraph line appears to be in decidedly a bad way. It has been some time since a communication from New York or any point east has been received and we don't know but it may be some time yet before it is received. The whole line is out of repair, and the proprietors ought either to put it in good working order or else make no pretensions to do business.—Kenosha Telegraph.

The electors of Rock county who are determined to support no man for office who is not positively and fully committed to the support of the principles announced in the "Republican Platform" adopted at Madison on the 13th of July last, and whose personal character, political associations and private conduct, do not afford a guarantee that he is reliable, are invited to meet in their respective townships or wards at the place of holding the last township ward election, on Tuesday, the 10th day of October next, at 2 o'clock P. COUNTY FAIR.

Yesterday was occupied in making the entries and getting ready for exhibition to-day. We were able to make only a hurried call at the grounds, but found the indications for to-day were of a favorable character. If the weather should prove fair, there will be a full turn-out of people, and a large collection of articles.

High Prices.—We are informed that our quotations for wheat for the day preceding, were too low, and that from $1.28 to $1.35 was paid for winter, and $1.25 to $1.30 for Canada club. The Milwaukee quotations for the same day were, winter $1.32 to $1.30; club, $1.22 to $1.28. A brisk competition among the millers for home use helped run up the prices.

DOUGLAS IN MR. MORRIS.—The Chicago Tribune of yesterday says that it has a private despatch from Mr. Morris, and learns that Douglas spoke there on Tuesday. He was listed to quietly, till he had finished, after which the meeting passed resolutions condemning his course and the Nebraska bill! All honor to Morris for this prompt and decisive condemnation of the traitor.

The Milwaukee Sentinel of yesterday has a private despatch announcing another foreign arrival, with a decline in breadstuffs, and an anti-Nebraska triumph in Maine.

MERCHANTS FOR JANESVILLE.—By the steamer Arctic, arrived at Milwaukee, on the 11th, merchandise was brought to Z. S. Doty; by the propeller Sun, to J. Sutherland, A. W. Wheeler, T. T. Wright, T. C. Westby, H. S. Shelton, by the steamer Minnesota, to J. A. Wood. On the 12th, by the steamer Cleveland, to Eckstein, Bro. & Co.; by the propeller Milwaukee, to A. K. Allen, T. Armstrong, Holden, Kemp & Co., McKay & Bro., J. S. Dayton.

How it Works.—The Kenosha Telegraph, in reporting the proceedings of the council of that city says: "The mayor stated that he was sorry to be obliged to state that the U. S. government had closed operations on the harbor, and the agent, Mr. Hale, had been directed to discharge all hands."

The republican convention for this district assembled at Mineral Point yesterday. We think we shall be able to announce, to-morrow, the candidate nominated.

The Milwaukee Hotel company have resolved to abandon the project of building a hotel in that city, unless the additional sum of $50,000 shall be subscribed to the capital stock within ten days.

The anti-Nebraska mass convention of Grant county was largely attended, the court house being filled to overflowing. Among the speakers were Messrs O. Cole and J. Allen Barber. A series of resolutions, commencing with the character of the meeting, was passed, and it was resolved to hold a county convention hereafter to nominate county officers.

The resignation of senator Grant, has been forwarded to the governor of this state at Madison.—Kenosha Telegraph.

Progress of the "Crushing Out" Policy.—Under the lead of Senator Douglas, the anti-Nebraska sentiment was attempted to be "crushed out" of the democratic party of Stephenson county, Ills. The process was this: Two conventions had been called at Freeport on the same day—one, a mass meeting to appoint delegates to the congressional and senatorial conventions; the other, a delegate convention to nominate county and legislative candidates. Apprehensive that the mass meeting would not be favorable to their designs, some of the "leaders" of the party in Freeport took possession of it before the people came in, and adjourned it, without appointing any delegates, or doing any business except to vest the delegate county convention with the power of appointment. In the county convention, matters were then managed to endorse the Nebraska bill, the national administration and Gov. Matteson, and instruct the delegates whose appointment was stolen from the mass meeting to give their votes to no man in the congressional convention unless he was pledged to the principles embodied in the resolutions adopted by the county convention, "and whose personal character is not a sure guarantee that he is honest in such support." Such "a steal" as this by the leaders on the masses does not give the best satisfaction, and there is a disposition to resent it in the most effective manner, viz. at the ballot box. The Freeport Bulletin, the democratic press of the county, says:

"It will crush our party in this county for the present at least, for it will be heralded abroad from Freeport that the democracy of Stephenson county have endorsed the great humbug of the age, the pretended doctrine of the Nebraska bill, and the nominees of that convention [legislative and county] are now compelled to enter a campaign with a load upon their shoulders sufficient to crush them of iron. Of course according to the action had it is not known what the sentiments of these candidates are, for they were nominated first, and the resolutions afterwards adopted and placed under them as platforms, but if they accept those tendered nominations they of course are to be understood as endorsing those resolutions, and they are now to come before the voters of Stephenson county as Nebraska candidates, asking their suffrages on a question that we as honest thinkers can never endorse, sanction or sustain, directly or indirectly, and if we were to proceed as the organ of the party we would be compelled to sacrifice the honest convictions of right and still our own sentiments, which we cannot and will not do."

[The Missouri compromise had] an origin akin to the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the danger which seemed to threaten, at some distant day, to sever the social bond of union. All the evidences of public opinion at that day, seemed to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to disturb.—Stephen A. Douglas.

"I am prepared to stand or fall by the American Union, clinging with the tenacity of life to all its glorious memories of the past, and the precious hopes of the future, and among those glorious memories of the past, I pronounce the compromise of 1820 to be one."—Stephen A. Douglas in a speech to his constituents in 1850.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—By a letter from Milwaukee we learn that Dr. J. W. Hartley, of Philadelphia, has taken rooms at the American Hotel, Milwaukee, and will remain until the 23rd inst, for the treatment of those diseases to which he devotes his attention. The St. Louis Intelligencer spoke of him as follows: after a visit to that city.

"Dr. Hartley, the eminent Philadelphia artist, has his hands full during his short stay in our city. The large number of cases he has treated, indicate quite remarkably the little understood prevalence of the disease in that very delicate organ, the human ear. His office has been thronged daily during the hours of business, from a few days after his arrival.

"The correct principles upon which his treatment is based have been fully indicated by the restoration of many of his patients and decided improvement of the remainder. There is no empiricism in the practice. He does nothing whatever until by the help of instruments of novel and peculiar construction, he has ascertained the precise seat and nature of the disorder. He is thus enabled to tell a patient with certainty, whether his cure will require a longer or a shorter time, or whether his case is incurable. We speak not as an observer, but as a patient of Dr. H's—having derived, in a few days, more benefit from his treatment of an affection of many years standing, than we had previously expected to experience in a life time. Dr. Hartley left St. Louis yesterday forenoon, on the New England. During his stay here, he made many warm friends by the kindness and suavity of his social deportment; and left some warm remembrances, too, among the afflicted ones who were fortunate enough to have tested his skill."

BUFFALOES BY THE ACRE.—A member of Gov. Stephens' northern route exploring party, in a long communication to the St. Louis Republican, written from the head of Yellow Stone river, says of the incidents of the party thus far:

On Sunday, after a march of 10 miles, the buffaloes were reached. They were estimated by some as high as 500,000—200,000 is considered as a very low estimate. Drawing up the train at our usual halt at noon, a large herd were about half a mile ahead. The hunters, six in number, were immediately dispatched, well mounted on spare horses reserved for that especial purpose, and the whole train had an opportunity to witness a buffalo hunt. The hunters dashed in among the herd, picked out the fattest of the crowd, and then separating the selected ones from the herd, soon separated them. In an hour the wagons were sent but a small distance from the route to receive the choicest pieces of buffalo.

In the next two days' march the hunters were kept some distance ahead, to keep off the buffaloes; it was the only way the safe passage of the train could be insured through the sea of flesh. The pack mules and spare animals following on the train being too numerous to be separately led, were hard to control, and despite every precaution and care, one horse and four mules were lost—they getting mingled with the herd.

PANTHER CATCHING.—Mr. Editor: Seeing a letter posted on the door of your office the other day, giving an account of the capture of a large panther, I was reminded of an adventure of myself and others with an animal of the same species some time since, in Hillsborough county of this state. Thinking a brief account of it would not, perhaps, be uninteresting to some of your readers, I herewith send you one, written at the time a letter to a friend. We were engaged in a survey of lands for the United States government.

It is our custom to appropriate out of every two or three weeks, a day, for the purpose of washing and mending our clothes, together with other little matters necessary to be done for the comfort of a camp life. On one of these interesting occasions a few days since, while all were plying the needle and scissors with the utmost assiduity, Tom looked up from his work, and smiled, not more than seventy yards from where we sat, a huge panther, half hidden behind a large pine, peeping at us, and cogitating within himself, no doubt, what steps he should take in order to procure one of us for his breakfast. Scarcely had Tom cried out, "look at the panther," before all were on foot, and gave a simultaneous shout for the dogs; which sudden, boisterous proceedings, the panther not understanding, took to his heels with all his might. "The dogs (two in number,) saw his first leap, however, and scampered off in pursuit, encouraged at every jump by the almost incessant yell of the boys. In the hurry of the moment, Tom snatched up the gun, and a large hickory club, Rubie the Jacob staff, and myself a butcher knife—all of which were brought into full requisition, as you will presently see. We endeavored, by loud shouts, to keep the dogs encouraged, and by straining every muscle to keep within hearing of them—which we succeeded pretty well in doing, by taking advantage of "near cuts."

The scene was a ludicrous one in the extreme. I had on but one shoe—Tom had none—Rubie had pulled off his shirt to wash it, and Taff his unmentionables for a similar purpose, and, of course, would not take the time to put them on—there wasn't a hat in the crowd. Imagine to yourselves a set of fellows in the above plight, going through the woods shouting, and yelling, and running, as though the very old Satan was after them, falling over palmetto roots, scrambling through thicket swamps, plunging into sloughs, &c., and you can form some idea of the scene.

For about an hour the race was continued with great energy; at last the dogs bayed, and we knew he had treed. In a few minutes we came up, and sure enough, there, perched among the boughs of a little pine, in a form begot the panting beast. "Treed, hey!" cried Rubie—"treed are you! Don't be gazing down upon us so, with them great green eyes; it won't do you any good—your time's up. O, you sneaking villain, you thought to have had a glorious breakfast of one of us; but now the tables are turned. We don't expect to eat you, that's a fact; but 'Jeemon's' river! what a lot of shot bags we'll make of your yellow hide."

A dispute next arose as to who should shoot. Tom had the gun, and was unwilling to give it up; but he was but a boy, and we feared his excitement would cause him to miss. A deafening roar from the gun, however, stopped the dispute—Tom had fired, a loud scream and a hideous growl from the tree told the tale of pain and rage as the result.

In a moment more he sprang from the tree, and again took to his heels; but being badly wounded, only ran a short distance, and squatted under a thick bunch of fern. Seeing him squat, and fearing he would destroy both our dogs, Rubie and myself determined to go to their rescue. When within ten yards of him he made a spring for us, but was met by the sharp point of Rubie's staff, which happened to stick through the skin of his back. He then whirled over on his back, to play the chipping game, and Rubie pinned him in this position to the ground, and there easily held him—while at regular intervals of about one second, Taff's club descended upon his head, and my butcher knife sunk to the hilt in his body.

This fracas lasted but a few minutes—he was a dead panther. In his struggle for life, the claws of his hinder feet stripped my shirt of its bosom, and left audacious red marks across Taff's bare legs.

This is not a sketch of fancy, but a literal fact. The panther was the largest I ever saw—measuring from tip to tip nine feet and one or two inches.—Florida Republican.

DO NOT UNDERSTAND THE ROPE.—At a county convention held in this state some days ago, the following, among other resolutions, was adopted:

"Resolved, That we cheerfully endorse the prompt and energetic manner in which Franklin Pierce and his administration have met every responsibility which has been presented for their consideration; and we also approve of the principles and policy of the administration which has shown itself capable and skillful in thus far managing the great ship of state."

About the time the convention was ending Mr. Pierce's administration as above, Mr. Douglas made no effort in this city to conceal the fact, that he regarded the administration as a dead failure, and that it was utterly beyond the power of human effort to reneat it in the confidence of the democratic party. The workers who got up the above resolution do not understand the rope. —Chicago Press.

WHISKY ON BEAVER ISLAND.—The Northern Islander says some attempts have been made lately to introduce whisky among the Indians on Beaver Island, and adds:

In consequence the Indians have determined to destroy any whiskey that shall be brought on the Island. The legal remedy has been sufficient to keep away all regular traders, but does not prevent an occasional fisherman disposing of a few gallons and getting off before he is arrested.

The same paper says:

The Indians of Beaver Island are remarkably improved in morals and material comforts during the last three years. This is attributed to the absence of all groggeries in their vicinity.

Experiments have been made upon the properties of the water of Salt Lake, Utah, for preserving meat, by Mr. Stanbury and his associates. A large piece of fresh beef was suspended from a cord and immersed in the lake, for over 12 hours, when it was found to be tolerable well cured. After this, all the meat they wished to be preserved was packed into barrels without any salt whatever, and the vessels were then filled with lake water. No further care or preparation was necessary, and the meat kept perfectly sweet although constantly exposed to the atmosphere and sun. They were obliged to mix fresh water with the brine, to prevent the meat becoming too salt for present use.

APPOINTMENT EXTRAORDINARY!!—BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE U. S.—No man from the West of authority than Doctor Edson H. Olds, of Circleville, has been appointed a special agent of the post office department, and that this special agent uses his commission to procure a free pass over railroads, and all lines that carry the U. S. mail. This is a small contribution on the part of the president, toward defraying the electioneering expenses of the doctor during the present canvass.

This is a new phase of the corruption system, now so prevalent at Washington. Nobody supposes that this man pretends to perform any of the duties of a mail agent. It is simply an appropriation from the national treasury toward the fund necessary to enable him to purchase his return to congress. We call the attention of the people of this district to this startling fact. As the agent of the government, he will, no doubt, draw a handsome sum from the treasury of the United States. And yet all the time he is employed in his own service, and in electioneering for himself!

He is the fit agent for such an administration. Let him be remembered as they deserve.—Columbus Journal.

If the above statement is correct—and the Columbus Journal is one of the most discreet and careful papers in the country, wholly incapable of imposition, and not likely to be imposed upon itself—the case is one which calls for the scrutiny of the house of representatives.—The appointment of Olds is in direct, palpable violation of the constitution, and somebody must be punished for it. Olds is a member of congress, and section 6th of the 1st article of the constitution says, "no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office."—Buff. Com. Adv.

St. Louis, Sept. 9.

FORT LARAMIE IN PERIL.—Lieut. Grant of the sixth infantry, 1 sergeant, 1 corporal, and 20 privates, were killed by the Sioux Indians near Fort Laramie on the 18th ult. When the express left, the fort was surrounded by Indians. The garrison numbers about 50 men.

RESPECT TO THE DEAD IN PARIS.—A common practice in Paris, which impresses a stranger unfavorably, is that of lifting or taking off the hat as a funeral passes. This is observed by all classes. A little while since, (says the writer,) I noticed a small funeral train moving in the direction of the Madeleine. Evidently, the one borne to burial was of the humblest class, for the body was only followed by a few workmen in blouses, and women without bonnets. As it passed on, hats were taken off by the well dressed crowd, sitting or moving on the walk, by gentlemen in carriages with footmen in gold liveries, and by men driving their watering carts through the street. It was a touching and beautiful sight.

The present position of the democratic party in this district, is very far from being secure. If the Carlyle convention will nominate a good man and keep clear of all new tests and isms, the nominee can easily be elected, but should the convention pass a string of Nebraska resolutions, we care not who may be the nominee, he is sure to be beaten. More than one half of the democratic voters of this district are German and Irish, and they are almost universally against the Nebraska bill. We have no hesitation in saying that three-fourths of the people of this district are opposed to the measure, and will not sustain any man who stands upon that as his platform.

	Anti-Nebraska.	Nebraska.
Senate,	16	14
House,	49	29
	65	41

Some of the democratic papers on the contrary, claim the senate by 1 majority, and we have even seen the anti-Nebraska majority in the house reduced to 1, and a tie thus claimed on joint ballot. We hope the classification of the Herald, given above, may be correct, though we feel no certainty about it.

MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.—The Jefferson City Examiner gives the following as the official result of the election of members of the legislature in Missouri:

	Whigs,	60
	Democrats,	80
	Denton Democrats,	41

MR. MEACHAM.—The returns indicate "nothing else" than that our excellent, able and faithful representative to congress from the first congressional district, Hon. James Meacham, has been re-elected by at least one thousand majority. This speaks volumes in favor of his course upon the Nebraska bill. He labored most untiringly against it and voted against its passage, and he now receives the reward of "well done" from his numerous constituents.—Vermont State Banner.

The magnetic telegraph line appears to be in decidedly a bad way. It has been some time since a communication from New York or any point east has been received and we don't know but it may be some time yet before it is received. The whole line is out of repair, and the proprietors ought either to put it in good working order or else make no pretensions to do business.—Kenosha Telegraph.

COUNTY FAIR.—Yesterday was occupied in making the entries and getting ready for exhibition to-day. We were able to make only a hurried call at the grounds, but found the indications for to-day were of a favorable character. If the weather should prove fair, there will be a full turn-out of people, and a large collection of articles.

HIGH PRICES.—We are informed that our quotations yesterday for wheat the day preceding, were too low, and that from $1.28 to $1.35 was paid for winter, and $1.25 to $1.30 for Canada club. The Milwaukee quotations for the same day were, winter $1.32 to $1.39; club, $1.22 to $1.28. A brisk competition among the millers for home use helped run up the prices.

Douglas in Mr. Morris.—The Chicago Tribune of yesterday says that it has a private despatch from Mr. Morris, and learns that Douglas spoke there on Tuesday. He was listened to quietly, till he had finished, after which the meeting passed resolutions condemning his course and the Nebraska bill! All honor to Morris for this prompt and decisive condemnation of the traitor.

The Milwaukee Sentinel of yesterday has a private despatch announcing another foreign arrival, with a decline in breadstuffs, and an anti-Nebraska triumph in Maine.

MERCHANDISE FOR JANESVILLE.—By the steamer Arctic, arrived at Milwaukee, on the 11th, merchandise was brought to Z. S. Doty; by the propeller Sun, to J. Sutherland, A. W. Wheeler, J. T. Wright, T. C. Westby, H. S. Shelton, by the steamer Minnesota, to J. A. Wood. On the 12th, by the steamer Cleveland, to Eckstein, Bro. & Co.; by the propeller Milwaukee, to A. K. Allen, T. Armstrong, Holden, Kemp & Co., McKee & Bro., J. S. Dayton.

How it Works.—The Kenosha Telegraph, in reporting the proceedings of the council of that city says: "The mayor stated that he was sorry to be obliged to state that the U. S. government had closed operations on the harbor, and the agent, Mr. Hale, had been directed to discharge all hands."

The republican convention for this district assembled at Mineral Point yesterday. We think we shall be able to announce, to-morrow, the candidate nominated.

The Milwaukee Hotel company have resolved to abandon the project of building a hotel in that city, unless the additional sum of $50,000 shall be subscribed to the capital stock within ten days.

The anti-Nebraska mass convention of Grant county was largely attended, the court house being filled to overflowing. Among the speakers were Messrs O. Cole and J. Allen Barber. A series of resolutions, commencing with the character of the meeting, was passed, and it was resolved to hold a county convention hereafter to nominate county officers.

The resignation of senator Grant, has been forwarded to the governor of this state at Madison.—Kenosha Telegraph.

Progress of the "Crushing Out" Policy.—Under the lead of Senator Douglas, the anti-Nebraska sentiment was attempted to be "crushed out" of the democratic party of Stephenson county, Illa. The process was this: Two conventions had been called at Freeport on the same day—one, a mass meeting to appoint delegates to the congressional and senatorial conventions; the other, a delegate convention to nominate county and legislative candidates. Apprehensive that the mass meeting would not be favorable to their designs, some of the "leaders" of the party in Freeport took possession of it before the people came in, and adjourned it, without appointing any delegates, or doing any business except to vest the delegate county convention with the power of appointment. In the county convention, matters were then managed to endorse the Nebraska bill, and the national administration and Gov. Matteson, and instruct the delegates whose appointment was stolen from the mass meeting to give their votes to no man in the congressional convention unless he was pledged to the principles embodied in the resolutions adopted by the county convention, "and whose personal character is not a sure guarantee that he is honest in such support." Such "a steal" as this by the leaders on the masses does not give the best satisfaction, and there is a disposition to resent it in the most effective manner, viz. at the ballot box. The Freeport Bulletin, the democratic press of the county, says:

"It will crush our party in this county for the present at least, for it will be heralded abroad from Freeport that the democracy of Stephenson county have endorsed the great humbug of the age, the pretended doctrine of the Nebraska bill, and the nominees of that convention [legislative and county] are now compelled to enter a campaign with a load upon their shoulders sufficient to crush men of iron. Of course according to the action had it is not known what the sentiments of those candidates are, for they were nominated first, and the resolutions afterwards adopted and placed under them as platforms, but if they accept those tendered nominations they of course are to be understood as endorsing those resolutions, and they are now to come before the voters of Stephenson county as Nebraska candidates, asking their suffrages on a question that we as an honest thinker can never endorse, sanction or sustain, directly or indirectly, and if we were to proceed as the organ of the party we would be compelled to sacrifice the honest convictions of right and still our own sentiments, which we cannot and will not do."

[The Missouri compromise had] an origin akin to the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the danger which seemed to threaten, at some distant day, to sever the social bond of union. All the evidences of public opinion at that day, seemed to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to disturb.—Stephen A. Douglas.

"I am prepared to stand or fall by the American Union, clinging with the tenacity of life to all its glorious memories of the past, and the precious hopes of the future, and among those glorious memories of the past, I pronounce the compromise of 1820 to be one."—Stephen A. Douglas in a speech to his constituents in 1850.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—By a letter from Milwaukee we learn that Dr. J. W. Hartley, of Philadelphia, has taken rooms at the American Hotel, Milwaukee, and will remain until the 23d inst, for the treatment of those diseases to which he devotes his attention. The St. Louis Intelligencer spoke of him as follows: after a visit to that city.

"Dr. Hartley, the eminent Philadelphia artist, has his hands full during his short stay in our city. The large number of cases he has treated, indicate quite remarkably the little understood prevalence of the disease in that very delicate organ, the human ear. His office has been thronged daily during the hours of business, from a few days after his arrival.

"The correct principles upon which his treatment is based have been fully indicated by the restoration of many of his patients and decided improvement of the remainder. There is no emphasis in the practice. He does nothing whatever until by the help of instruments of novel and peculiar construction, he has ascertained the precise seat and nature of the disorder. He is thus enabled to tell a patient with certainty, whether his cure will require a longer or a shorter time, or whether his case is incurable. We speak not as an observer, but as a patient of Dr. H's—having derived, in a few days, more benefit from his treatment of an affection of many years standing, than we had previously expected to experience in a life time. Dr. Hartley left St. Louis yesterday forenoon, on the New England. During his stay here, he made many warm friends by the kindness and sympathy of his social deportment; and left some warm remembrances, too, among the afflicted ones who were fortunate enough to have tested his skill."

BUFFALOERS BY THE ACRE.—A member of Gov. Stephens' northern route exploring party, in a long communication to the St. Louis Republican, written from the head of Yellow Stone river, says of the incidents of the party thus far:

On Sunday, after a march of 10 miles, the buffaloes were reached. They were estimated by some as high as 500,000—300,000 is considered as a very low estimate. Drawing up the train at our usual halt at noon, a large herd were about half a mile ahead. The hunters, six in number, were immediately dispatched, well mounted on spare horses reserved for that especial purpose, and the whole train had an opportunity to witness a buffalo hunt. The hunters dashed in among the herd, picked out the fattest of the crowd, and then separating the selected ones from the herd, soon dispatched them. In an hour the wagons were sent but a small distance from the route to receive the choicest pieces of buffalo.

In the next two days' march the hunters were kept some distance ahead, to keep off the buffaloes; it was the only way the safe passage of the train could be insured through the sea of flesh. The pack mules and spare animals following on the train being too numerous to be separately led, were hard to control, and despite every precaution and care, one horse and four mules were lost—they getting mingled with the herd.

PANTHER CATCHING.—Mr. Editor: Seeing a letter posted on the door of your office the other day, giving an account of the capture of a large panther, I was reminded of an adventure of myself and others with an animal of the same species some time since, in Hillsborough county, of this state. Thinking a brief account of it would not, perhaps, be uninteresting to some of your readers, I herewith send you one, written at the time in a letter to a friend. We were engaged in a survey of lands for the United States Government.

It is our custom to appropriate out of every two or three weeks, a day, for the purpose of washing and mending our clothes, together with other little matters necessary to be done for the comfort of a camp life. On one of these interesting occasions a few days since, while all were plying the needle and scissors with the utmost assiduity, Tom looked up from his work, and spied, not more than seventy yards from where we sat, a huge panther, half hidden behind a large pine, peeping at us, and cogitating within himself, no doubt, what steps he should take in order to procure one of us for his breakfast. Scarcely had Tom cried out, "Look at the panther," before all were on foot, and gave a simultaneous shout for the dogs; which shout, boisterous proceedings, the panther not understanding, took to his heels with all his might. The dogs (two in number), saw his first leap, however, and scampered off in pursuit, encouraged at every jump by the almost incessant yell of the boys. In the hurry of the moment, Tom snatched up the gun, Taft a large hickory club, Rubie the Jacob staff, and myself a butcher knife—all of which were brought into full requisition, as you will presently see. We endeavored, by loud shouts, to keep the dogs encouraged, and by striding every muscle to keep within hearing of them—which we succeeded pretty well in doing, by taking advantage of "near cuts."

The scene was a ludicrous one in the extreme. I had on but one shoe—Tom had none—Rubie had pulled off his shirt to wash it, and Taft his unmentionables for a similar purpose, and, of course, would not take the time to put them on—there wasn't a hat in the crowd. I managed to get myself a set of fellows in the above plight, going through the woods shouting, and yelling, and running, as though the very old Satan was after them, falling over palmetto roots, scrambling through thicket swamps, plunging into sloughs, &c., and you can form some idea of the scene.

For about an hour the race was continued with great energy; at last the dogs bayed, and we knew he had treed. In a few minutes we came up, and sure enough, there, perched among the boughs of a little pine, in a fern bog, sat the panting beast. "Treed, hey!" cried Rubie—"treed are you! Don't be glancing down upon us so, with them great green eyes—it won't do you any good—our time's up. O, you sneaking villain, you thought to have had a glorious breakfast of one of us; but now the tables are turned. We don't expect to eat you, but a fact; but 'Jeemes' river' to what a lot of shot-bags we'll make of your yellow hide."

A dispute next arose as to who should shoot. Tom had the gun, and was unwilling to give it up; but he was, but a boy, and we feared his excitement would cause him to miss. A deafening roar from the gun, however, stopped the dispute—Tom had fired, a loud scream and a hideous growl from the tree told the tale of pain and rage as the result.

In a moment more he sprang from the tree, and again took to his heels; but being badly wounded, only ran a short distance, and squatted under a thick bunch of fern. Seeing him squat, and fearing he would destroy both our dogs, Rubie, Taft and myself determined to go to their rescue. When within ten yards of him he made a spring for us, but was met by the sharp point of Rubie's staff which happened to stick through the skin of his back. He then whirled around on his back, to play the claying game, and Rubie pinned him in this position to the ground, and there he lay held him—while at regular intervals of about one second, Taft's club descended upon his head, and my butcher knife sunk to the hilt in his body.

This fracas lasted but a few minutes—he was a dead panther. In his struggle for life, the claws of his hinder feet stripped my shirt of its bosom, and left sundry red marks across Taft's bare legs.

This is not a sketch of fancy, but a literal fact. The panther was the largest I ever saw—measuring from tip to tip nine feet and one or two inches.—Florida Republican.

DON'T UNDERSTAND THE ROSES.—At a county convention held in this state some days ago, the following, among other resolutions, was adopted:

"Resolved, That we cheerfully endorse the prompt and energetic manner in which Franklin Pierce and his administration have met every responsibility which has been presented for their consideration; and we also approve of the principles and policy of the administration which has shown itself capable and skillful in thus managing the great ship of state."

About the time the convention was endorsing Mr. Pierce's administration as above, Mr. Douglas made no effort in this city to conceal the fact, that he regarded the administration as a dead failure, and that it was utterly beyond the power of human effort to re-instate it in the confidence of the democratic party. The wire-workers who got up the above resolution do not understand the role, they should be seen to at once.—Chicago Press.

WHISKEY ON BEAVER ISLAND.—The Northern Islander says some attempts have been made lately to introduce whiskey among the Indians on Beaver Island, and adds:

In consequence the Indians have determined to destroy any whiskey that shall be brought on the Island. The legal remedy has been sufficient to keep away all regular traders, but does not prevent an occasional fisherman disposing of a few gallons and getting off before he is arrested.

The same paper says: The Indians of Beaver Island are remarkably improved in morals and material comforts during the last three years. This is attributed to the absence of all groceries in their vicinity.

Experiments have been made upon the properties of the water of Salt Lake, Utah, for preserving meat, by Mr. Stanbury and his associates. A large piece of fresh beef was suspended from a cord and immersed in the lake, for over 12 hours, when it was found to be tolerable well cured. After this, all the meat they wished to be preserved was packed into barrels without any salt whatever, and the vessels were then filled with lake water. No further care or preparation was necessary, and the meat kept perfectly sweet although constantly exposed to the atmosphere and sun. They were obliged to mix fresh water with the brine, to prevent the meat becoming too salt for present use.

ANOTHER BEAR.—Our Appleton hunter, Mr. W. Warner, killed a fine black bear on the school section north of this town. The bears are very troublesome in that locality, killing hogs, and snaring the juveniles. What say our fan-loving people to a real bear hunt? See call.—Appleton Crescent.

APPOINTMENT EXTRAORDINARY!!!—BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE U. S.!!—No man has been of better authority than Doctor Edson B. Olds, of Circleville, has been appointed a special agent of the post office department, and that this special agent uses his commission to procure a free pass over railroads, and all lines that carry the U. S. mail. This is a small contribution on the part of the president, toward defraying the electioneering expenses of the doctor during the present canvass.

This is a new phase of the corruption system, now so prevalent at Washington. Nobody supposes that this man pretends to perform any of the duties of a mail agent. It is simply an appropriation from the national treasury toward his return to congress. We call the attention of the people of this district to this startling fact. As the agent of the government, he will, no doubt, draw a handsome sum from the treasury of the United States. And yet all the time he is employed in his own service, and in electioneering for himself!

He is the fit agent for such an administration. Let them be remembered as they deserve.—Columbus Journal.

If the above statement is correct—and the Columbus Journal is one of the most discreet and careful papers in the country, wholly incapable of imposition, and not likely to be imposed upon itself—the case is one which calls for the scrutiny of the house of representatives.—The appointment of Olds is in direct, palpable violation of the constitution, and somebody must be punished for it. Olds is a member of congress, and section 6th of the 1st article of the constitution says, "no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office."—Duff, Conn. Adc.

St. Louis, Sept. 9. FORT LARAMIE IN PERIL.—Lieut. Grattan of the 6th infantry, 1 sergeant, 1 corporal, and 20 privates, were killed by the Sioux Indians near Fort Laramie on the 15th ult. When the express left, the fort was surrounded by Indians. The garrison numbers about 50 men.

RESPECT TO THE DEAD IN PARIS.—A common practice in Paris, which impresses a stranger favorably, is that of lifting or taking off the hat as a funeral paces. This is observed by all classes. A little while since, (says the writer,) I noticed a small funeral train moving in the direction of the Madeleine. Evidently, the one borne to burial was of the humblest class, for the body was only followed by a few workmen in blouses, and women without bonnets. As it passed on, hats were taken off by the well dressed crowd, sitting or moving on the walk, by gentlemen in carriages with footmen in gold liveries, and by men driving their watering carts through the street. It was a touching and beautiful sight.

The present position of the democratic party in this district, is very far from being secure. If the Carlyle convention will nominate a good man and keep clear of all new tests and isms, the nominee can easily be elected, but should the convention pass a string of Nebraska resolutions, we are sure to be beaten. More than one half of the democratic voters of this district are German and Irish, and they are almost universally against the Nebraska bill. We have no hesitation in saying that three-fourths of the people of this district are opposed to the measure, and will not sustain any man who stands upon that as his platform.

Iowa.—The Dubuque Herald of the 7th classifies the legislature thus elected as follows:

Anti-Nebraska.		Nebraska.
Senate,	16	19
House,	49	24
	65	43

Some of the democratic papers on the contrary, claim the senate by 1 majority, and we have even seen the anti-Nebraska majority in the house reduced to 1, and a tie thus claimed on joint ballot. We hope the classification of the Herald, given above, may be correct, though we feel no certainty about it.

MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.—The Jefferson City Examiner gives the following as the official result of the election of members of the legislature in Missouri:

	Whigs,	60
	Democrats,	60
	Benton Democrats,	41
		161

A U. S. senator is to be elected this winter to succeed Mr. Atchison. Col. Benton is a candidate, but the chances are decidedly against him.

MR. MEACHAM.—The returns indicate "nothing else" than that our excellent, able and faithful representative to congress from the first congressional district, Hon. James Meacham, has been re-elected by at least one thousand majority. This speaks volumes in favor of his course upon the Nebraska bill. He labored most untiringly against it and voted against its passage, and he now receives the reward of "well done" from his numerous constituents.—Vermont State Banner.

The magnetic telegraph line appears to be in decidedly a bad way. It has been some time since a communication from New York or any point east has been received and we don't know but it may be some time yet before one is received. The whole line is out of repair, and the proprietors ought either to put it in good working order or else make no pretensions to do business.—Kenosha Telegraph.
